TO TAP SOUTHERN NEVADA.

Progress of the Salt Lake & Los Angeles Railroad.

In a talk with Engineer J. Fawson Smith, of the Union Pacific, last Thursday, the reporter of the Salt Lake Tribune elicited some interesting facts in regard to the extension of the Utah Southern railroad through Nevada to Mojave or Barstow. We give the leading points of the Tribune's account. Two parties have been in the field since last February. They surveyed several lines and gave the whole country a thorough examination. The engineers are now getting out maps, and have no doubt but the route they have selected will be approved by the big guns at Omaha.

THE ROUTE SELECTED.

The main line now designated by the engineers as the most feasible, on leaving Milford, bears across the Escondido Valley, and goes over the rim of the Great Salt Lake basin opposite Pioche. Thence the general course is northwest to Bristol Pass in the Ely range, near Bristol mining camp, where great quantities of medium-grade ores are mined. From there the line strikes over into the White river watershed, and thence through Coal valley over the Freiburg Pass into the Panneyer valley and on to Kane Springs. Beyond that the line runs to the head waters of the Amargosa river, which is followed to Ash Meadows, where the course is to Death Valley, and on crossing the plateau between Death and Panamint valleys, the main line runs over into the Mojave desert, and straight on to Barstow. From there to Los Angeles is but a short run.

THE COST OF CONSTRUCTION.

The cost of building this road will be moderate, about $12,000 to $20,000 per mile; the route is entirely feasible, and though there must be considerable culvert building, the items of bridges and trestles will be very light. Moreover, the character of the country admits of rapid construction, so that when President Adams once gives the word, "Are you ready? Go!" construction can be pushed at the highest rate of speed.

A VAST DEPOSIT OF MINERAL WEALTH.

Mr. Smith says his statements made in the report on the preliminary survey as to the mineral wealth of the country traversed by the extension must be enlarged, as they prove to be entirely beneath what the outlook would justify him in stating now. Not only he, but other railroad men who have been through there recently, are very enthusiastic over the mineral outlook. All that has been said before can be doubled and said over again, and Mr. Smith is certain that local traffic will abundantly support the road when once put through.

A SHORT ROUTE TO LOS ANGELES.

The present survey begins at Milford station and extends to Mojave and Barstow. The main line laid out this trip is shorter than that selected as probable in the preliminary survey by 50 miles, the grades nowhere exceed 100 feet, with the curves at a maximum of six degrees. The pass elevations remain practically unchanged from the figures given in the preliminary survey. The distance between Salt Lake and Los Angeles via Barstow will be 800 miles, a saving of 500 miles over the present route.

General Goff, the Republican candidate for Governor, of West Virginia, telegraphs the State Committee that his majority in McDowell county is 174, and in Wyoming 122. General Goff also telegraphs editor Hart of the Intelligencer, that he is elected Governor. This is the first time he has made any claim. He says he will see that the will of the people is carried out.

The flow of the Carson river was increased by the snowfall of Saturday and the rains since to a volume sufficient to operate at full capacity all of the stamps in mills propelled by its power. Monday the Con. Cal. Va. Company increased daily ore shipments to the Eureka mill to 240 tons.

The rumor is gaining currency that Cleveland contemplates appointing Private Secretary Lamont as Judge Advocate General of the United States Army in place of General Swain, now under suspension.

Mitchell and Dempsey have signed articles to fight for $10,000, near New Orleans, in January next.

The Sacramento Record Union says: It is reported from several sections that Chinese laborers are demanding larger wages than they have heretofore received in California. It is a good sign. One of the greatest objections to the Chinaman was his under-cutting of wages, and his ability to work for a reward upon which no good American citizen could possibly maintain a family. The strike of the Chinaman is of his belief that he has a corner on the Chinese labor market in California, because he is cutting off the supply.

WOMAN'S SUFFRAGE.

A Voice From the W. C. T. U. Echoes Its Sentiments:

Since the printing of the minutes of the Executive Committee of the W. C. T. U., of Reno, Oct. 23, 1888, wherein it reads a motion prevailed to petition the coming Legislature to grant the right of suffrage to women, has been the cause of some alarm to one of our Nevada editors. Inasmuch as he desires to call attention of the female sex generally to the fact that wherever such suffrage has prevailed much trouble has been the consequence, and by its means very many women have in a measure lost that charm of modesty so peculiar to the sex. The world has never taken a step in advance without meeting with more or less opposition and trouble, and woman suffrage will not be an exception to this rule. Our old Revolutionary fathers made a vast amount of trouble for King George, of England, when they were fighting for their liberty; but they kept on, nevertheless, and won their freedom. And when women shall have gained her freedom it will be the grandest step towards law and order, and civilization the world has ever known. We see neither sense nor reason why women's modesty should be injured in the least (if she has the genuine kind) by helping make good and wholesome laws, by which herself, children and man, if you please, could be protected from the curse of vice and crime. The disagreeable picture he presents of modest young women of Washington Territory being summoned on juries and compelled to listen to what should cause the roughest specimen of manhood to blush, and as members of grand juries, paraded through the streets of a very immoral city and taken to inspect houses of ill-fame, were part of the indignities the suffragists had placed on them there. These certainly must have been very disagreeable duties for the ladies to perform, but this shows more conclusively the need of women helping make better laws for this immoral city. Bad law-making and good laws not enforced will make any city immoral. He also says that a good woman's place is at home and wherever among her fellow-beings she can exercise her influence for good, but not in the filthy pool or politics, for that is bad and degrading enough for the lower sex, as man should be termed. He seems to carry the idea that if a woman should vote it would necessitate her being away from home a larger part of the time. For the benefit of those who still hold to this idea we will say to them, that election day comes only once a year, and it will take no longer for a woman to vote than to go to the Postoffice with a letter. Women want the ballot to help clean out this filthy pool of politics; she expects to inhale some of its disgusting odors, but she knows if she expects to keep the home atmosphere pure she must go to the root of the evil and remove the cause. We do not believe man should be called the lower sex, nor the higher; but on the level with the female sex. We are sorry to say many men have sunk far below this level, so very far that nothing can bring him back but woman's voting in the ballot box. Yet man seems tardy in returning back to women this God given right. If man had wished woman satisfied and submissive and willing for him to do the thinking, and whatever he thought was right was to be the law, he should never have opened the doors of higher education to woman. He should have kept the doors of the home library locked and the key in his pocket. He should have had the newspapers and magazines sent to the club rooms. But he builded better than he knew. It is too late now. The flat has gone forth. Already the fires of freedom are tingling in her veins as it did in our Revolutionary fathers' when Patrick Henry thrilled them with these immortal words: "Give me liberty or give me death." Endorsed by the W. C. T. U., of Reno.

PICKLED APPLES.—For sweet pickled apples take one teacup of vinegar and two of sugar and make a syrup of them, adding cinnamon and cloves. Pare and core sweet apples, drop them in the syrup and let them cook until tender, not soft. Put in a jar and pour the syrup over them. They are ready to eat as soon as cold, and will keep any length of time. It is usual to tie the spices in a little bag, especially if ground, and cook in that way.

A SILVER SEA.—The Enterprise of yesterday says: Yesterday morning the clouds were below the city. All the valleys and deserts were hidden from sight. The cloud stratum lay over all, glittering like a sea of silver under the rays of the rising sun. The tops of the higher hills standing above this phantom sea presented the appearance of islands. A more beautiful scene seldom meets the human gaze.

THE RAZ DREDGER.—Now that there is sufficient water in the Carson river to float Dr. Raz's dredging scow, says the Enterprise, we may expect soon to hear of the sucking up of some portion of the millions in quicksilver, amalgam and free gold supposed to be lying in the bed of that stream. A big brick or two would be an encouraging sight to Eastern stockholders.

"UNIVERSAL SALVATION."—As will be seen in another column Very Rev. Father Bouchard, S. J., has consented to deliver a lecture at the Catholic Church in this city next Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock for benefit of the Young Men's Institute. The subject in which the eloquent missionary will preach is "Universal Salvation."

MASQUERADE BALL.—Amity Lodge, No. 8, K. of P., will give a grand masquerade ball New Year's night, Jan. 1, 1889 a special meeting of the Lodge will be held at their hall Friday evening, November 23, 1888, at 7:30 p. m. sharp to make final arrangements.

DISPOSING OF SAWDUST.

Something Which Will Interest Our Millmen—A Position Which Must Soon be Taken.

The Truckee Republican, of last week, takes the following sensible view of this all-important subject:

It will soon be time for the regular biennial discussion of the saw-dust question. At every meeting of the Legislature for a number of years past, there has been a strong effort made to pass a law preventing the depositing of sawdust in running streams. Whatever may be the merits of such a law, there is no question but that it would work an injury to the interests of the Truckee basin. On two occasions has the passage of such a law been defeated by efforts of our millmen aided by hard work by members of the Legislature from Truckee. Two years ago the defeat of the proposed law was a piece of luck. The Legislature was in the humor to pass the law and the act reached a third reading in both houses. It did not become a law because other measures crowded it aside. Already have the enemies of sawdust begun to prepare for another assault upon the Legislature for the passage of the law. In the upper Sacramento valley petitions are being circulated praying for the passage of an act preventing the dumping of sawmill refuse into streams. Our millmen have no one to champion their interests in the Legislature and the chances for the passage of the law are very favorable.

Our millmen should begin to prepare for its passage. The time is sure to come sooner or later when they will have to take some other means for disposing of this refuse. How shall it be done? This is a question which must sooner or later be answered. It is possible to burn it, but it is not always practicable. Heretofore there have been many objections to saving it. But now a machine has been invented which is used in saving the stuff which has always been thrown away. By compressing its bulk so that it can be easily transported to places where there is a large demand for cheap fuel, it can be made a source of income instead of a nuisance. In Truckee this course might be pursued when it comes to a disposal of refuse other than by the present means. Surely the subject is worthy of consideration by our millmen, and we append the following from the Industrial Journal, descriptive of the machine referred to and its work:

At the sawmill is erected a tramway, and along this runs on wheels a box-shaped receptacle or curb in which the material is pressed. The entire outfit weighs about 2½ tons, and requires a space about 20 by 30 feet. When the work of pressing begins the sawdust or other material is dropped into the receptacle, and by means of power either from a water wheel or engine a pressure of 125 tons is secured. It is plainly evident that no covering of cloth, unless it be of metal, can withstand such pressure, and just here comes in one of the notable inventions connected with the machine.

By a peculiar arrangement, which has been patented, a metallic case is so placed inside the curb and inside the burlap, which finally forms the covering to the bale, as to enable the removal of the matter pressed after it has been confined by wire or rope. The curb is so devised as to open at all four corners, allowing the bale to drop to the floor or ground, leaving the curious lining inside. Then by a motion of the levers the curb is closed, new binding material inserted, and the whole apparatus ready to go through the operation again. Two curbs can be used advantageously to one press, and two men can operate a curb.

Sawdust when baled in this way becomes so compact as to be well-nigh impregnable, weighing 325 pounds per bale. These bales measure about 24x28 by 36 inches, and are readily taken by transportation companies at the lowest rate of freight. If the sawdust be damp when baled it will speedily become dry, the bale all the while remaining firm. And another peculiar feature is that the sawdust, even after being subjected to this great pressure, falls apart like meal on being opened, the particles not adhering together.

The machine is intended for the compressing of sawdust, shingle hair, refuse wood and bark, and in fact everything in the shape of waste coming down from sawmills; box factories and all kinds of wood-working establishments. Hemlock bark can be ground where peeled, pressed into bales, and thus distributed to tanneries at a large saving in the cost of transportation.

Refuse from mills, such as bark, sticks, etc., can be baled in the same manner as sawdust, save that no covering is used, it only being necessary to put slats on the top and bottom of the bale. It is not difficult to see that this may have a marked effect on the kindling wood industry. Millmen who have heretofore found the removal and destruction of such refuse attended with considerable expense can confidently expect hereafter without any additional outlay, to get the same baled and ready for market.

DON'T

Let that cold of yours run on. You think it is a light thing. But it may run into catarrh. Or into pneumonia. Or consumption.

Catarrh is disgusting. Pneumonia is dangerous. Consumption is death itself.

The breathing apparatus must be kept clear of all obstructions and offensive matter. Otherwise there is trouble ahead.

All the diseases of these parts, head, nose, throat, bronchial tubes and lungs, can be delightfully and entirely cured by the use of Boecher's German Syrup. If you don't know this already, thousands and thousands of people can tell you. They have been cured by it, and "know how it is, themselves." Bottle only 75 cents. Ask any druggist.

HAVEY'S MINSTRELS.—Next Wednesday evening the Renosites will be able to witness Havey's Mastodon Minstrels. Of this revised combination the Riverside, Cal., Chronicle says:

There is something wrong in the nature of a person who can't enjoy a minstrel show. Even suppose you have seen hundreds of them before and know by intuition what the next gag is that the end man is going to work off on you—to which the interloper has led up with such cunningly devised questions; even suppose it is the five-hundredth time you have heard the poor old mother-in-law joke, the big foot joke, the boarding-house hash plesantry, or the whole ancient and honorable order of pie jokes; suppose you have listened to scores of sweet ballads about "mother," "The Old Cabin," and kindred topics; and have seen hundreds of tumblers, each the greatest on earth, contort themselves into astonishing and thrilling postures; suppose, we say, that you have seen all of these things many a time and oft, yet if you do not laugh uproariously at the very first chestnut, if you are not moved by an old and plaintive ballad, if you do not hold your breath while the contortionist twists his limbs into fearful and wonderful shapes, and applaud furiously when he straightens himself out and bows and smiles himself off the stage, there is something wrong with you. And if you go to see Havey, who gives you no chestnuts, whose costumes are as near perfection as art can make them, whose stage arrangements are a miracle, who offers you tumblers and athletes that make your eyes stick out, no matter how many you have seen before, and who runs over the whole gamut of the sensations you are capable of, from the risible to the sentimental—without a moment's intermission—and if you are not more than delighted with your evening's entertainment, then your case is hopeless, and it were better for you if you had a mill-stone tied around your neck and were cast into the sea. We were there last night in company with a large part of Riverside, and know whereof we speak. We will not particularize, because our stock of adjectives is limited, but the show was the best. If any doubt this it is because they weren't there. Seats now on sale at Nasby's.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.—I take the liberty to announce to the public and to my customers that we have moved to the large and spacious store of the Chamber's building, next door to M.
